

CALL FOR PATRONS AND EXHIBITORS

IEEE MILCOM offers senior military and industry leaders along with distinguished researchers the platform to describe the problems and solutions underlying coordinated action in multiple domains. Keynotes, panels, presentations and focused networking insure all will have a voice and a role in addressing the theme of this event. Join in this critical conversation, unique convening, and important event as government, industry and academia help define Multi-Domain Command and Control.

IEEE MILCOM takes seriously environmental concerns as we return to in-person professional conferences as trade shows. The expo floor will be a more managed environment this year, focusing on reserved times for targeted engagement and scheduled VIP walkthroughs to maximize safety and value to exhibitors.
